Nightwood Welcomes Cate McKim

Nightwood Theatre is thrilled to welcome our new Marketing and Outreach Coordinator, Cate (Cathy) McKim. Well known in Toronto's theatre community as a theatre reviewer with her blog life with more cowbell, Cate brings a fervent passion for local theatre, and an engaging and insightful writing style. A multidisciplinary storyteller with a background in visual, performing and literary arts, she studied visual arts at York University and acting at George Brown Theatre School; and spent nine years at Alumnae Theatre, doing everything from blogging to scenic painting.

Nightwood Theatre would like to pass along a heartfelt thank you to our outgoing Director of Communications and Outreach, Taylor Trowbridge, for all her wonderful work over the past two seasons. Artistic Director, Kelly Thornton says, "We wish Taylor all the best as she moves on to obtain her Masters in Theatre from York University, and we want to thank her for her tireless efforts in promoting women in theatre. We are thrilled to welcome Cate McKim to Nightwood. As a powerful writer and passionate advocate for the arts, she is an incredible addition to the Nightwood team."
